

Factors Associated with Continuation and Cessation of Self-Injury from Adolescence to Adulthood

Nicole Duffy

Bachelor of Psychology

This thesis is submitted in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of
Master of Clinical Psychology

School of Psychology

University of Newcastle

November 2018

Table of Contents

Declaration.....	3
Acknowledgments.....	4
Factors associated with self-injury.....	8
Functions of self-injury.....	9
Aims and Hypotheses.....	11
Method.....	12
Participants.....	12
Materials.....	13
Inventory of Statements About Self-Injury (ISAS).....	14
Depression Anxiety Stress Scales-21 (DASS-21).....	14
The Kessler Psychological Distress Scale (K10).....	15
Satisfaction with Life Scale (SWLS).....	15
Design and Procedure.....	16
Results.....	16
Predictors of ongoing self-injury.....	18
Psychological wellbeing differed according to self-injury status.....	19
Cessation of self-injury is associated with engagement in work or study.....	20
Discussion.....	21
Links to Previous Research.....	21
Strengths and Limitations.....	23
Future Directions.....	25
Clinical Implications.....	26
Appendix A.....	32
Original Ethics Approval and Variation Approval
Appendix B.....	36
Information Statement
Appendix C.....	39
Online Advertisement
Appendix D.....	40
Author Information Pack - Journal of Affective Disorders

Declaration

Statement of Originality

This thesis contains no material which has been accepted for the award of any other degree or diploma in any university or other tertiary institution and, to the best of my knowledge and belief, contains no material previously published or written by another person, except where due reference has been made in the text. I give consent to this copy of my thesis, when deposited in the University Library**, being made available for loan and photocopying subject to the provisions of the Copyright Act 1968.

**Unless an Embargo has been approved for a determined period.

Acknowledgement of Collaborations

I hereby certify that the work embodied in this thesis has been done in collaboration with other researchers. I have included as part of this thesis a statement clearly outlining the extent of collaboration, with whom and under what auspices.

This study forms part of a broader research study which was established by Dr Sean Halpin and Ms Caitlin Dempsey. They developed the online questionnaire and conducted initial recruitment. I contributed to the development of the research question, database search, statistical analysis, interpretation of results and the writing of the manuscript. Ms Payton Demellweek-Dodds and Ms Jess Herbert assisted in data collection and cleaning of the dataset. Ms Megan Valentine also assisted in collating and cleaning the data.

Student name: Nicole Duffy

Supervisor name: Dr Sean Halpin

Signed:

Signed:

Date: 22/11/18

Date: 22/11/18

Acknowledgments

First and foremost, I would like to thank my supervisor, Dr Sean Halpin, for his support, guidance and wisdom during this process. Your patience was a virtue and your assistance invaluable. Your reinforcement provided much relief and you kept me grounded more than you know. This goes too for my fellow student researchers. Payton and Jess, sharing this with you made the whole experience far less daunting; I wish you all the best in your future careers. My gratitude also extends to Megan for her expertise, patience and persistence in navigating me through the arduous task of data cleaning and analysis.

To my wonderful cohort of peers in the Master of Clinical Psychology program; thank you for making this experience so much fun. The comradery I experienced over the past two years is what I will remember most about this time. I look forward to working with you all in the future and seeing where this journey takes us.

Thanks must also be extended to my lovely network of friends. You all contributed, either directly or indirectly, to getting me through this project with my wellbeing and sanity intact. My partner, Glenn, is no exception. Your patience and reassurance did not go unnoticed and I look forward to making up for the many date nights that were sacrificed to the plight of this thesis.

The constant encouragement and support of my wonderful family has been a sustaining force in the completion of this thesis, as with all of my pursuits to date. Their continual, boundless love and belief in me reminds me that I am free to take risks because I will always have a soft place to land. I am so grateful and can honestly say that they are equally as responsible for any of my successes because I would not have achieved it without them.